

DISLOYAL FEDERAL WORKERS GO OUT

ACCORD NEAR ON NEW DEAL
FOR GERMANYRUSSIAN PROPOSAL
CALLS FOR RULE
BY REPUBLIC

BY WES GALLAGHER

Moscow, March 22 (AP)—Russia proposed to the council of foreign ministers tonight that the future German government be based on the defunct Weimar republic which Adolf Hitler used to climb to power and then destroyed.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall, expressing the opinion that the Russian view was not as far from those of the U. S., Britain and France as had been expected, declared that the Soviet proposals would be regarded in America as suggesting a federal form of government as the term is understood by Americans.

French Stand Pat

In general, both the United States and Britain support the idea of a federalized Germany, while France is for a loose and decentralized regime. The Russian proposals were subjected to an immediate attack by Britain and France.

The long-awaited Soviet proposals for Germany, which were made public for the first time by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, included a two-chamber parliament elected by proportional representation through a list voting system.

Molotov's outline for Germany was the top feature of the day, which saw the French stand by their plan for a loose federation of German states and a British statement on economic principles for Germany with a 10,000,000-ton annual steel level and a conciliatory gesture toward the French demand for coal.

Marshall, in a paper circulated among the ministers, elaborated on the fundamental principles he announced yesterday for a federalized Germany, in which he urged establishment of a provisional German regime "at once."

Differences Analyzed

The American memorandum proposed a repeated Germany of from 10 to 13 Länder (states), headed first by a provisional government composed of the heads of states it specified that the Allied control council would refrain from direction, operation or detailed supervision of the provisional regime's activities.

The U. S. plan states that Germany shall have no military establishment whatsoever, that no political party shall have special privileges, and that the constitution drawn up by the provisional government shall be revised by a majority of the people and a majority of the German states.

Striking differences between the Soviet and western plans for a future German government included:

1. The Soviet proposed proportional representation voting system where the vote would be for party "lists." The "list" voting system has been denounced by America and Britain as unacceptable.

2. That both houses be elected by direct suffrage on a population basis. The American and British plans envisage one of two houses elected on a state basis such as the United States Senate, while the French propose only one house.

Reuther Opens
Fight Against
CIO Leftists

BY CHARLES C. CAIN

Louisville, Ky., March 22 (AP)—President Walter P. Reuther of the CIO-United Auto Workers opened a personal drive here today against what he termed "leftist influences" inside the union.

Appearing before the UAW's 22-man international executive board, Reuther demanded removal of Irving Richter as the union's legislative representative in Washington and told his colleagues that they must be "very careful in the selection of personnel who work in the shadow of the capitol."

Usually reliable union sources said the UAW president took the floor in the closed meeting to demand a curbing of "leftist influences." Reuther frequently has accused Richter of being "inclined to the left" in politics.

These sources said Reuther told the board that "there is a witch hunt on (in Washington). Before it is over, I suppose I'll be kicked around and everyone in this room will be kicked around."

Richter appeared before the board but declined comment after the session, which lasted for three hours. The board is scheduled to resume its meeting tomorrow at 2 p. m. (CST).

The fight against Richter is the first test of strength between rival factions inside the UAW since the board opened its meetings here the first of the week.

Richter, who sat inside the closed meeting today, has been serving as the UAW lobbyist in Washington and advises local unions of pending legislation.

PAIR ARRESTED
IN 1945 MURDERHighland Park Man And Second Wife Held In Thompson Mystery

Detroit, March 22 (AP)—Louis V. Thompson, wealthy Highland Park auto dealer, and his second wife, Helen, his one-time secretary, were charged today with the mutilation murder of Thompson's first wife, Lydia, in warrants issued by Circuit Judge George B. Murphy.

Both were held without bond at the Wayne county jail where they will await arraignment before Judge Murphy at 11 a. m. on Monday. The indictments came as a sensation climax to the grand jury investigation of the slaying of the first Mrs. Thompson.

Thompson was arrested at his auto agency by grand jury investigators and Mrs. Thompson was taken into custody at their $50,000 Orchard Lake home.

Judge Murphy, one-man labor racket grand juror, also issued "John Doe" indictments for two men and a woman whom he accused of conspiring with the couple from Jan. 1, 1945, to commit the murder.

Mrs. Thompson's mutilated body was found Oct. 13, 1945, along a lonely lane in Oakland county 12 miles northwest of Pontiac. Her head had been nearly severed and there were punctures as though from a sharp weapon on many parts of the body.

Thompson and Helen Budnik, at that time his secretary, were cleared of complicity in the slaying by Oakland county and state investigators.

New Shoes Stolen,
All For Left Foot

Columbus, O., March 22 (AP)—L. E. Leusch, of Columbus, a shoe company representative, told police tonight he wouldn't be surprised if there was a mighty disappointed thief around town.

The culprit broke into Leusch's car parked on a downtown street, he reported, taking two bags containing 40 sample men's work shoes of various sizes.

Leusch added that he would like to have seen the thief's face when he finished sorting out the loot.

"Every one was for the left foot," Leusch said.

Two Youths To Die
For Memphis Holdup

Memphis, Tenn., March 22 (AP)—A criminal court jury found Richard P. Reilly, 20, and Daniel Budzynski, 18, of Pittsburgh, guilty of murder in the first degree tonight and recommended that they die in the electric chair for the holdup slaying of a Memphis merchant.

Judge Sam Campbell withheld sentencing until an appeal could be made. The jury deliberated more than four hours.

The Pittsburgh youths, who laughed and joked throughout the proceedings, took the verdict solemnly.

Brother Of Escanabans
Perishes In Camp Fire
On Foster City Road

At an inquest held Saturday, a coroner's jury impaneled by Coroner Robert Diehm of Stephentown delivered a verdict of accidental death in the case of John Theodore Froberg, 61, woodsman of Hermansville, found burned to death in the ashes of the pulpwood camp of Johnson and Son, half way between Waucedah and Foster City on the Foster City road.

The remains were discovered at 5:30 p. m. Friday night by Clifford Gustafson, an employee of Johnson and Son, who had driven out from Hermansville.

Alone in the camp since cutting had ceased two weeks ago, Froberg, who had worked for Johnson and Sons all winter, was last seen on Thursday by neighbors who drove him to the camp and helped him build a fire.

Froberg is survived by two brothers and three sisters: Eric of 1217 Eighth avenue south, Escanaba, and Olaf of Iron Mountain; Mrs. Knute Sattlem, 1610 Tenth avenue north, Escanaba; Mrs. Esther Froberg, Cunard, and Miss Esther Froberg of Hermansville.

The body was taken to the Asp funeral home in Norway. The funeral will be held at 2:30 Monday afternoon from the funeral home. Burial will be in the Hermansville cemetery.

SECRET PAPERS
REVEAL LITTLEHouse Committee Gets Background Data On
Greece And Turkey

BY ALEX H. SINGLETON

Washington, March 22 (AP)—A batch of documents laid before the House foreign affairs committee as "background" on the measure to aid Greece and Turkey proved tonight to be just that—historical background, hardly worth the "secret" label.

The documents available were only about half the file, however. Issuance of the rest was delayed until tomorrow by mechanical difficulties in making copies, and some expected that these would be of more importance.

Congressmen on the committee protested when the documents were submitted to them marked "secret" and insisted that they be made public. Undersecretary of State Acheson then told the committee he would comply with the demand.

A state department spokesman said the texts of the Yalta and the Potsdam agreements also will be made public, probably early next week. These were demanded by Rep. Mundt (R-S.D.) who insisted their contents were essential to the committee in considering the implications of sending aid to Greece and Turkey.

One document put the Greek economic plight in a nutshell, saying that Greece at present "is generally regarded as a very poor credit risk."

But the papers furnished only historical data on Greece's struggle against civil strife.

Ann Arbor Prisoner
Escapes At Trial,
Is Caught In Store

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 22 (AP)—A prisoner who escaped from custody as a jury deliberated a possible life sentence against him today was captured three hours later in the basement of a second-hand furniture store.

Douglas Williams, 23, of Ypsilanti, was arrested by City Patrolman Howard Remant without a struggle during a building-by-building search.

Williams said he first hid in a dump truck after fleeing from the Washtenaw county courthouse and had been in the store a little over half an hour. The store owners said they were unaware of his presence.

MORO CHIEFTAIN
KILLER CAUGHTChristian Slaves And Harem Inmates Freed
In Mindanao

BY SPENCER DAVIS

Manila, March 22 (AP)—Military police reported today the surrender of Datu Mampao, Moro chieftain, an event more important to the hill people of Southern Mindanao than the capitulation of Japan.

Police said a drive against him and other Moros in the wild back country has resulted in recent release of more than 300 Christian slaves and harem inmates.

For more than 30 years this wily little chieftain and his dagger-wielding followers led authorities on a bitter chase through their rugged homeland around Cotabato. The war meant nothing to these men of the Moslem faith except a better chance to capture Christians who had fled from the cities.

As a typical case of enslavement, police cited the experiences of Beatriz Pimental, an attractive young woman of Cagayan in Misamis Oriental province, Mindanao.

She and her family fled to wild Bukidnon province to escape the Japanese. They were captured July 3, 1943, by Moros under Sultan Sa Ragat. A Moro named Baratan drew her as his share of the loot, he traded her to another Moro for a rifle.

She was sold twice, once for 280 pesos ($140) and once for 380 pesos ($190) before a police patrol freed her in the Lanao Hills last September. The rest of her family is still missing.

Iowa Man Takes
His 16th Bride;
No. 15 Left Him

Cedar Rapids, Ia., March 22 (AP)—Iowa's most-married man has stepped to the altar for the 16th time.

Latest bride of James F. Williams, 65-year-old employee of a building supply firm, is the former Mrs. Louise Parker, 60, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Although Williams himself scoffs at the news and can't understand why there is "all this fuss" about his matrimonial ventures, the new Mrs. Williams granted an interview.

She confirmed that they were married in Kansas City last Oct. 4, a few months after Williams had received an annulment of marriage No. 15 on grounds that wife left him without saying adieu.

Mrs. Williams said she knew her husband had been married before but asserted she believed she knew the formula for keeping him happy.

"You've got to let him have his own way," she said.

Springfield, Ill., March 22 (AP)—Local 764 of the AFL United Mine Workers—the home town local of John L. Lewis and one in which he holds a card—voted tonight to assess each of its 450 members $2 to help pay the $760,000 in fines imposed on the union and the miners' chief.

BUDGET SLASH
AND TAX CUTS
IN DEADLOCKCOMPROMISE PACT
OF REPUBLICANS
BLOWS UP

BY EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, March 22 (AP)—A confident attempt by Republican leaders to end senate-house differences over slashing government costs, reducing taxes and making payments on the debt blew up today.

Although Senator Bridges (R-NH) and other Republicans said they had worked out a compromise ahead of time, a one-hour session of the official conference committee, which includes Democrats, produced only further deadlock.

Agreement Fails

Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the conferees, told newsmen that the house spokesmen unanimously rejected a compromise by senate conferees for a $5,250,000,000 slash in President Truman's budget.

"We thought we had an agreement but it failed," said Bridges, head of the senate conferees and chairman of the senate appropriations committee.

Senators who would not permit their names to be used reported the deadlock today arose from demands by house members that the senators support the income tax reduction bill now pending in the house. The measure calls for a 30 per cent cut for the smallest taxpayers and 20 percent for most others and would cost $3,800,000,000.

"We are not going to agree to anything like that until the senate has had a chance at the tax bill," said one influential senator.

The immediate senate-house dispute is over the congressional budget required for the first time this year by the congressional reorganization act. It sets up an overall program on government expenditures and revenues intended to serve as a chart for congress.

Difference Is Split

Taber said the house conferees had decided to insist upon a slash of $6,000,000,000 from President Truman's budget estimate of $37,500,000,000 for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The senate voted for a $4,500,000,000 cut but its conferees offered to split the difference and compromise at $5,250,000,000.

Bridges and other senate leaders said they were willing to reduce from $2,600,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 the amount earmarked for payment on the $260,000,000,000 national debt and include a statement of support for a sizable income tax reduction.

Senators said that some house leaders approved this compromise earlier today but that House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.), not included in the session, opposed it and blocked the agreement.

Skyscraper Will Be Started By July 1
For Offices Of U. N.

Lake Success, N. Y., March 22 (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced today that work would be started on construction of the United Nations skyscraper headquarters in mid-town Manhattan by July 1 with an initial outlay of $1,825,000.

Lie advised New York's Mayor William E. O'Dwyer by letter that he had authorized the expenditure of $1,000,000 for demolition, excavation and related work and that this would get under way within three months.

No estimate has been given as to the cost of the entire project.

Ice Breaker Will Open Straits For
Navigation April 1

Cheboygan, Mich., March 22 (AP)—The 13,500 horsepower Coast Guard icebreaker Mackinac will attempt to clear the Straits of Mackinac of ice in time to open the navigation season April 1, eleven days ahead of schedule.

Commander Carl H. Stober said the ship will run channels through the ice field to break it into floes which will drift into the Great Lakes.

He said operations will begin between Bois Blanc Island and the mainland if the wind is from the west and the floes will be blown into Lake Huron.

If the wind is east, the officer added, the Mackinac will start at Lansing Shoal so wind can blow the ice into Lake Michigan.

Truman Signs
Bill To Erase
OPA June 30

Washington, March 22 (AP)—President Truman signed a June 30 death warrant for the OPA today but urged Congress to provide for the rent and sugar controls to be carried on by other agencies.

A meeting of Republican Senate leaders, however, failed to settle the differences among them over whether the controls should be continued, and if so how.

The president approved the $179,645,668 deficiency appropriation bill which liquidates the catch-all Office of Temporary Controls at mid-year along with the OPA and the Civilian Production Administration merged into it.

Simultaneously, Mr. Truman ordered all the housing controls of the OPA transferred on April 1 to Housing Expediter Frank R. Creedon and "fully enforced" by him.

OPA's funds are so reduced by the bill as to make it powerless in the construction field beyond March 31. The measure requires various government agencies to return to the treasury $699,000,000.

In specifying the liquidation of OTC, the act eliminates three once-powerful war agencies consolidated in the control office last December—OPA, CPA and the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion.

The president emphasized that Congress has not decided that rent control and sugar rationing are to end along with the agencies under death sentence.

"On the contrary, the Congress is now considering legislation to extend sugar rationing beyond March 31 and rent control beyond June 30, 1947," said Mr. Truman's statement.

HEIRESS FACES
MURDER CHARGESanta Ana, Calif. Pair
Accused Of Killing
Girl's Parents

Santa Ana, Calif., March 22 (AP)—Deborah Louise Overell, 17-year-old heiress, and her fiancé, George R. Goetz, 21, were arraigned today on a charge of murdering her wealthy parents aboard their yacht, blown up in Newport harbor last Saturday night.

They stood arm in arm before Justice of the Peace D. J. Dodge in Costa Mesa justice court as the charge, accusing them of slaying Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, was read by the justice. They were ordered held without bond pending a preliminary hearing next Thursday.

The charge was filed by R. R. Hodgkinson, Newport Beach chief of police.

The college sweethearts, who had not seen each other since their arrest last Wednesday, embraced warmly as they were led into the tiny justice court. They were not asked to enter pleas to the charge.

Young Gollum's attorney, Dee Holder, demanded an immediate hearing but Deputy Dist. Atty. J. P. Smith said "a great mass of evidence and many, many witnesses" which the district attorney's office must handle could prevent presentation of the case before Thursday.

Should the defense demand a hearing before then, he said he was prepared to dismiss the present charge and file new ones as the time limitation expired.

The complaint did not specify the manner of the Overells' deaths. Overell, 62, head of a Los Angeles finance company, and his wife, Beulah, 57, were found dead after a dynamite blast aboard the yacht but Sheriff James Musick said evidence indicated they had been slain with a ball pen hammer before the explosion.

Agreement Is Reached In Wage Dispute At Cleveland, O.

Cleveland, March 23 (Sunday) (P)—A scant 24 hours before the deadline for a nationwide strike, the CIO United Rubber Workers Union tonight announced it had reached an agreement with the Big Four rubber companies for a wage increase of 11 1/2 cents an hour.

A union spokesman said the increase would be retroactive to Feb. 2.

He also announced the union had called off its walkout, scheduled for midnight Sunday in 42 plants of Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone, and U. S. Rubber in 20 states, producing about 90 per cent of the nation's tires.

Robert Cruden, the union spokesman, said terms of the agreement had been settled, and that formal signing by company representatives would be completed within a matter of hours.

Anti-Fascist Who Killed Mussolini Identified In Rome

Rome, March 22 (P)—The man who slew Benito Mussolini was identified by the Italian Communist party today as Walter Audsley, 37, a bookkeeper and member of the anti-Fascist underground.

Audsley, a Communist since 1931, was asked to appear tomorrow in a Rome theater to describe the dictator's execution, but the Communists tonight postponed his appearance for a week "in a place still to be decided" because the theater hired for tomorrow was "too small to accommodate the extraordinary crowds expected."

The party praised Audsley for carrying out his mission with "decision, certainty and audacity" and for having kept his identity a secret up to now "at the advice of his party." It recommended that Italy award him highest military honors.

Leading Terrorists Arrested By British In Holy Land Raids

Jerusalem, March 22 (P)—Five known terrorists, "two of them believed to be big boys," were arrested by British authorities in a combined army-police search in the Syrian orphanage area of Jerusalem today, an army spokesman announced tonight.

The spokesman declined to identify the men arrested, but he denied a report that Menahem Beigin, Irgun Zvei Leumi "chief of staff," was among them.

The search resulted in discovery of a quantity of ammunition and explosives, including seven home-made bombs, 40 sticks of gelignite, a detonating set, three pounds of home-made explosives, 233 rounds of ammunition and one grenade.

FIRE DESTROYS COTTON

Epidemic Grips State, Much Like Influenza

(By The Associated Press)

The state health department said today that Michigan is in the grip of an influenza-like epidemic which has spread through schools, colleges, churches and jails.

No fatalities have been reported.

The disease strikes suddenly, bringing high temperatures, sore throat, nasal congestion, headache and listlessness. It lasts only a few days.

Dr. William De Kleine, state health commissioner, said it has reached epidemic proportions and is general throughout the state.

He declined to label it influenza pending a more complete check but termed it a respiratory infection "resembling influenza."

Germans Lack Sense Of Guilt In Causing War

By EDWIN SHANKE

Berlin—(P)—Germans as a rule lack a deep sense of war guilt. As a result, they frequently blame the Allies for all their troubles.

Occupation officials realize that the Germans are inclined not to think of their war guilt, and especially of the suffering they have brought upon other peoples around them.

A quiet, almost imperceptible campaign therefore is in progress to impress on Germans that the present-day evil conditions are of their making—the direct result of the war they fought under Nazi leadership. This is being done in the news reels and in printed word.

Some German leaders publicly have been taking the Germans to task for their indifference to the whole question of war guilt. The Rev. Martin Niemoller, evangelist minister jailed by the Nazis for his stand against Nazi anti-church policy, has been prominent in this respect.

Although the Germans today naturally are mainly pre-occupied with problems of food, clothing and coal, it also is quite clear that they are making an effort to keep the question of war guilt out of their minds.

Talk among the Allies of the dangers of a new war, so soon after World War II, has led many Germans to wonder whether Nazi Germany was solely responsible for the last one.

Despite the most thorough defeat any nation has ever suffered, the Germans in their hopelessness still are dreaming of a leader who will guide them to another national renaissance.

The German youth of today, a number of German educators say, are thinking just as nationalistically as they did during the Nazi regime.

War Veteran Dives For Gold In River With $770 Outfit

Seattle, (P)—Dreams came true for Philip L. Bishop, 37, war veteran, when he donned diving gear and, with a suction pump, "vacuum-cleaned" the gold dust from the bed of Sultan river.

While assault boats, carrying equipment, bobbed on the river surface 20 feet above, a stream of gold-bearing sand, sucked up for pockets behind big boulders on the river bottom was emptied into a sluice box and caught in mercury traps.

Bishop thought of the gold-diving method several years ago while deep sea diving with the Seabees. He had hand-panned for gold along the Sultan during the depression days.

In Seattle, the War Assets Administration sold him diving gear, a jeep, power pumps and the boats for $770. He figures he can sweep $50 worth of gold a day—compared with the $3 he used to make prospecting the pioneer way.

California has a half-million acres of vineyards.

CHECKUP WITH FBI ORDERED BY PRESIDENT

The Civil Service commission and FBI probably will be asked. They may amount to $15,000,000 to $20,000,000.

Each agency head, Mr. Truman ruled, must be "personally responsible" for cleaning his own house.

The establishment of one or more "loyalty boards" in every department and agency was directed. Their rulings may be appealed to a top "loyalty review board" to be set up in the Civil Service commission.

Accused employees may summon witnesses and counsel at each step of the hearings.

The chief executive directed that the agencies, in their check-ups, may call on any government investigative agency, including the FBI and military intelligence, for data. The latter agencies, he specified, may withhold the names of "confidential informants" from their reports where necessary.

Mr. Truman acted under provisions of the Hatch act which is designed to "prevent pernicious political activity." He asked no legislation, and made his executive order effective at once, or as soon as Congress votes the funds where increased outlays are necessary.

Standards Stiffened

The presidential action broadens the government's tests for determining worker loyalty. An assortment of standards has prevailed among the agencies, but all were based generally upon whether the person advocated overthrow of the government by violence.

Now, the order rules:

"The standard for the refusal of employment or the removal from employment in an executive department or agency on grounds relating to loyalty shall be that, on all the evidence, reasonable grounds exist for belief that the person involved is disloyal to the government of the United States."

It cited various grounds for including "reasonable doubt," including commission of sabotage or treason, advocacy of force in altering the form of government, deliberate disclosure of confidential documents, "under circumstances which indicate disloyalty," and performance of official duties in such a way as to "serve the interests of another government in preference to the interests of the United States."

Report More Severe

Then, in the paragraph under which most cases are held likely to arise, Mr. Truman specified this criterion:

"Membership in, affiliation with or sympathetic association with any foreign or domestic organization, association, movement, group or combination of persons, designated by the attorney general as composed of representatives from each state.

3. The Russians propose putting powers in the hands of a central administration which delegates power to the states. The western powers want the states to retain the main powers and delegate certain authorities to the federal government.

4. The Soviet proposal that all laender (state) constitutions be made to conform to a central constitution would destroy most constitutions now in effect in the American and British zones of Germany.

Plebiscite Suggested

The Soviets have had under fire for some time the state constitutions in the U. S. zones which have been approved by the German people, particularly clauses which make it necessary for political parties to get 10 per cent of the vote to stay on the ballots. This provision has been placed in the constitution to block formation of scores of small-splinter political parties which spelled the downfall of the Weimar republic.

This provision has threatened the life of the Communist party in some western areas since it did not receive 10 per cent of the vote and consequently aroused Soviet ire.

centralized government, the Soviet foreign minister referred to Japan, where he said the Japanese have their own government under the direction of the occupation authorities.

Molotov suggested that the Russians might agree to a plebiscite for the Germans to decide for themselves, saying "if the German people decide on federalization the occupying powers must accept this."

He repeatedly stressed that a German provisional government is needed in order to fulfill obligations to the Allies, presumably meaning reparations.

JACKSON LUNCH HELD YESTERDAY

Need For Delta County Votes Emphasized By Speakers

Appreciation of feminine efforts, and certainty of victory—if the Delta county vote is brought out—was stressed by all speakers at the noon luncheon held yesterday in St. Joseph's Parish hall for 300 women workers of the "Jackson for Judge" campaign.

R. A. O'Neill, city chairman of the "Jackson for Judge" committee, welcomed the workers, expressing appreciation for their previous efforts in Jackson's behalf, and his assurance of further efforts.

After the luncheon, which was preceded by a "Salute to The Flag," a vocal selection, "The Lord's Prayer," by Frank Hirm, accompanied by Mrs. Hirm, and the invocation by Father Francis, O'Neill introduced Clyde McGonagle, toastmaster, who in a few short phrases spoke of the need of a heavy Delta county vote in the coming biennial spring election.

Denis McGinn, Escanaba attorney, outlined the "Jackson for Judge" activities in other counties, and displayed a half-page political ad in the Iron River Reporter, signed by thirty-eight responsible and influential Iron county citizens.

The Rev. Gustav Lund of Escanaba's Bethany Lutheran church stated that while as a pastor, he was unable to tell his parishioners for whom to vote, he was duty bound to charge them to vote, and to investigate most thoroughly the character of the candidate for whom they voted.

Candidate Jackson himself expressed appreciation for the women's support given him, and went on to speak of his recent swing through the 5th judicial circuit. In those localities where he had his greatest strength, Jackson said, there were no other contests to help bring out the vote; and he requested further assistance from the women workers present in order to overcome that handicap.

Following Jackson, W. E. Eaton, St. Joseph's pastor, emphasized the need of a heavy Delta county vote in the coming biennial spring election.

sized the need of superior character in a circuit judge, and dwelt upon the human problems a judge encounters. He, too, emphasized the necessity of getting out each and every vote in Delta county.

Mrs. Glenn Jackson, in a very short, simple, and sincere talk, thanked the women for their support and help.

The Benediction was pronounced by the Reverend Ward of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, after which the assembly, led by Frank Hirm, accompanied by Mrs. Hirm, sang "God Bless America."

Road Commission Asks State To Improve M-35

The improvement of M-35 from Ford River south 11 miles to the Delta-Menominee county line "as expeditiously as possible" by the state highway department is asked by the Delta county road commission in a resolution adopted yesterday and addressed to Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner.

The resolution also urged immediate improvement of the highway in the vicinity of O. B. Fuller county park, located nine miles south of Ford River. Highway traffic at that point crosses Bark River on an old bridge only wide enough for one car, and the bridge is situated on a dangerous reverse curve.

Relocation of the bridge and highway at that point is proposed, and the Delta county board last year approved an easement for a right-of-way on the new location.

The resolution was approved by all members of the road commission, composed of Chairman Harry Greene of Garden, and Commissioners Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone and Henry Wylie of Escanaba.

Other business before the road commission included adoption of the annual report, which will be submitted to the county board in its April meeting; and the hearing of petitioners seeking county road improvements or extensions. The commission also adopted into the county road system under the re-certification of McNitt roads four and one-half miles of No. 186 (former state trunkline) between Rapid River and Brampton; and three-tenths of a mile of road from County Road 426 west to the Sturdy Fur farm in Wells township.

Petitioners to appear before the commission included the following:

Jacob Lampi and Ray Johnson, asking improvement of one mile of H-31 in Maple Ridge township; Arthur Pouliot, owner of Terrace Gardens, who asked for construction of a 700-foot roadway to connect with US-2-41, to serve a resort business planned to be developed on the bay shore. Terrace Gardens dance hall was recently destroyed by fire.

Frank Beaudry, Walter and William Richie of Ford River asked that gravel be applied on county road A-29 in Ford River township. The road must be widened, however, by about eight feet before gravel surfacing can be applied.

There was another petition for graveling two and one-half miles of D-35, D-20 and D-13 in Wells and Escanaba townships. George Kornetzke of Escanaba, another petitioner, asked that the county complete the relocation of A-14 in Ford River township.

All of the petitions and requests were received by the commission and will be considered for work when the program of county road projects is set up, and when funds are available for the improvements.

From the declaration of a national emergency in the summer of 1940 through early 1946 nearly sixteen million American men and women served in uniform.

Vote on April 7

THE spring election will be held on April 7, at which time the voters will select officers for many of the most important governmental offices in the state.

The campaign locally has emphasized the contest for circuit judge in the 25th judicial district which is, of course, an extremely important contest. Numerous other equally important offices, however, will be decided in the April 7 election, among them two state supreme court justices, two regents of the University of Michigan, the superintendent of public instruction for the state, member of the state board of education, members of the state board of agriculture, and county school commissioner.

How these offices are conducted in the years ahead will affect the lives of all Michigan residents. The principles of democracy are invested in the ballot box and democracy can function properly only when a large majority of the people take the time to study the election issues, appraise the candidates and get out and vote. Exercising the voting privilege is the most important responsibility of citizenship in our democracy.

The voting in the primary election was relatively light in Delta county. Voting spally always constitutes a danger because it invites rule of a few over the many, which is directly opposed to the traditional American principles.

Escanaba in Spotlight

ESCANABA was in the national spotlight again last week.

You guessed it. Part of the national publicity came from the lovely smelt. While most folks have given little thought to the silvery fish since it vanished from Escanaba waters a few years ago, our good friend, Rep. Fred Bradley, one of the past kings of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree, went ahead on his own initiative and staged a fish feast for his Congressional colleagues in the national capital. Pictures and stories of the smelt eating contest, which was won by Rep. Brown of Ohio, clicked in newspapers all over the country. And the radio networks also devoted some time to Escanaba smelt publicity.

Escanaba's industrial expansion program also was the subject of a front page feature story in the influential Wall Street Journal recently. Former Escanaba resident, now located in cities in all parts of the country, read the report of Escanaba's progress with much interest and sent congratulatory letters to the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the Escanaba City Council, co-sponsors of the industrial development work. Incidentally, the Hancock Chamber of Commerce is using Escanaba's success as an argument for the launching of a similar industrial promotion project in that Copper Country community.

Yes, Escanaba is still very much on the map.

Pleasant Prospect

PROFESSOR Edward Teller of the University of Chicago has been considering the future of war. His conclusions about the deadly work of radioactivity and improvement in atomic bombing are calculated to give readers the shivers.

"New kinds of bombs or other methods of destruction will come as no less of a surprise than did the blinding flash over Hiroshima," he says in the Bulletin of Atomic Physics. "If only bombs of the present type will be used in future war, we could still survive an attack and win, that is, if we planned and carried out our defenses to the limit. But that is probably too optimistic. Even if we destroyed ninety per cent of the bombs released on us, millions would be killed."

But Professor Teller foresees bombs that may easily surpass those used in the last war by a factor of a thousand. A single bomb of this type would devastate not three or four square miles, but three or four hundred. The radioactive effects could be appalling.

"If radioactivity is ever released off the Pacific coast, and if it should be a million times as strong as that wafted by the winds following the Bikini tests, the whole of the United States would be endangered," he continued. "The attacker might be in danger from his own radioactive gases, which could prove a two-edged sword. It would be difficult to control a vast amount of radioactivity in this way, but it could be done."

Shelters, properly ventilated and provided with filters, could be fairly effective against this radioactivity, but the number of shelters would have to be enormous. And when our people emerged from them they would face a food problem of real magnitude. If the flora and fauna of the country were still alive, they would at least be too radioactive for use as food.

So maybe Roger W. Babson knows what he is doing when he builds a deep underground shelter on a quiet spot in Kansas, or as far away from the eastern or western coasts as he can possibly get. The future is anything but bright, and these are certainly troubling times.

Our Skirts Aren't Clean

BEAUTIFUL and luxuriant forests, broad and rolling plains, the high Rocky Mountain ranges interspersed with deep wooded valleys—these once comprised the American Continent. Streams clear and sparkling flowed across the country, deep blue lakes dotted the woodlands," says Walter Miller in the American Indian Digest.

"Game abounded—buffalo, deer, antelope, elk, moose, ducks, geese and many others were found here. It was truly a blessed land of plenty. Over all this territory roamed tribes of men with bronze skins, black hair, dark eyes and high cheek-bones. Indians, they were later called.

"But there came a dark day for these men of bronze. From across the seas came men with paler faces. Welcomed as friends by the Indians, they settled here; more came, and they began to push westward. They destroyed timber and game wantonly.

"On numerous occasions, with no more excuse than 'the only good Indian is a dead Indian,' armies of white men marched upon Indian villages and put them to the torch. Ever greedy, the whites stretched grasping hands toward the property of the red men.

"When the Indians fought back they were cursed by the whites. But can they be blamed for fighting the invaders? They only did what any patriot, any lover of his homeland, would do. True, the Indians fought cruelly and fiercely, but they knew no other way. Although the Indians may have been cruel, there were hundreds of cases when the whites proved to be even more cruel.

"But finally," says the writer, "through treachery, war, thievery and other black deeds, the whites became undisputed rulers. Before we talk about invasions and seizures of territory by foreign dictators, let us look at the dark and bloody pages of our own history."

Draft Dies Monday

THE draft act will end at midnight Monday and the army will have to depend entirely upon volunteers to meet its manpower needs. In reality the end of the draft procedure will not make any appreciable change in the situation because the draft organization has merely been marking time for the past six months as there has been no draft quota since last summer.

What to do with the vast selective service files and the valuable, though confidential, information they contain still must be settled. For the next few months, at least, the files will remain at local board offices which presumably will continue to be partially staffed until the files are removed or destroyed.

The army probably will be better off without the draft to drive reluctant young men into military service. That certainly will be true if manpower requirements can be met entirely on a voluntary basis. Experience has proved that volunteer soldiers are tops. It is now up to the army hierarchy to make military service attractive to young men who no longer can be herded to military camp by conscription.

The pay scale for soldiers is high, the opportunities to learn a trade are excellent. The trend is towards a more democratic army consistent with the requirements of discipline.

Now that the draft is ending, we cannot make the mistake of assuming that our military obligations throughout the world are over. This, in fact, would be the sure way to force a return to military conscription. Our obligations are still with us, bought at a great price. It is up to us now to meet those obligations fully, which means maintenance of a well trained army. It will be a better army because it is composed entirely of volunteers, men who join the service because they prefer it.

$3 WHEAT
(Chicago Daily News)

About a year ago President Truman proclaimed that he was fighting deflation and inflation. His inability to decide produced many of the contradictions, log jams and snafus that characterized that phase of his administration.

Now since wheat has gone above $3 on the Chicago Board of Trade, it should be plain, finally, that inflation is the more menacing danger.

To be sure, the price of wheat has gone up mainly as a result of extraordinary circumstances, of which government purchases for relief abroad are the most important.

It is the interminable series of such circumstances growing out of great wars that produce inflations. The minimum of extraordinary purchases, loans and gifts add up to a very real danger. If we are about to embark on a policy, not restricted to relief, but including all kinds of miscellaneous aid to shaky little nations at a quarter billion per nation, repeated time and again, a more dramatic word will have to be substituted for danger.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Although Soviet Russia's two leading newspapers, Pravda and Izvestia, are very hard up for newsprint, they each devoted two columns to what Henry Wallace called his "answer" to President Truman's message on Greece and Turkey. In Wallace's highly emotional speech, this sentence occurs:

"President Truman cannot prevent change in the world any more than he can prevent the tide from coming in or the sun from setting."

That point of view is reminiscent of a famous document in a famous controversy of just seven years ago. Anne Morrow Lindbergh's book, "The Wave of the Future," was one of the rallying points in the Isolationist-Interventionist debate of 1940.

It is interesting today to turn back to that document. Mrs. Lindbergh identified the Nazi Revolution with the "Forces of the Future." She was writing with honest heart-searching, rejecting the easy apologies for Germany's march to power. Yet she wrote:

"But it is to say that somehow the leaders in Germany, Italy and Russia have discovered how to use new social and economic forces very often they have used them badly, but nevertheless, they have recognized and used them. They have sensed the changes and they have exploited them. They have felt the wave of the future and they have leapt upon it. The evils we deplore in these systems are not in themselves the future; they are scum on the wave of the future."

In that controversy of seven years ago, Wallace was a highly emotional crusader on the other side. Campaigning for vice-president, he called the Republican party the "Party of Appeasement" and thereby stirred an angry political hornet's nest.

Of course no one can stop changes. But as President Roosevelt knew very well, it is possible to direct the course of change in one way or another. In 1940, a person of Anne Lindbergh's integrity found herself in strange company as the bitter-enders sought to prevent any help to Great Britain. In 1947, Wallace, whose past reputation for integrity is high, finds himself crying war and disaster in the company of such bitter-enders as Rep. Clare E. Hoffman of Michigan and other Isolationists.

There is still a chance to bring about peaceable Democratic change in Greece. Unfortunately Mr. Truman, in his speech, did not give us sufficient specifications. Although it will not be easy, the change is there.

—GREECE NEEDS HELP—

It seems to me important to look ahead at what is fairly certain to happen in Greece if we do nothing or if our action is too little and too late. Those who have studied the situation in Greece believe the course of events will be more or less as follows if no aid is forthcoming after March 31.

First, the present weak government would fall. Ambitious military men of Fascist mentality, some inside Greece and some outside, would try to establish a dictatorship on the pattern of the cruel and repressive Metaxas regime.

That would be a signal to step up the guerrilla war in the north. Aid in volume would come from Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, funneled in from Moscow. A full-scale civil war would begin.

Those who have compared the present situation in Greece with Spain would then see a real Spain. Unless we wanted ready to begin the next war, we could not send in aid after the civil war had begun. The outcome, given a volume of assistance from the Slavic empire, would be certain—a Communist dictatorship in smashed and ruined Greece.

Those who would withhold aid until Greece changed her government are indulging in a wishful fantasy. The situation in Greece is so close to anarchy or dictatorship that change cannot occur in a decent direction without guidance and material help.

Emotional cries of war and disaster are no help. Those who really believe in Democracy should work to try and make sure that aid to Greece is used to further and strengthen Democracy and that it comes before it is too late.

Perhaps we lack the capacity to give that kind of aid. Perhaps under our government of divided powers, we cannot even make up our minds in time. There are increasingly those who say that we must wait for the wave of the future. But that is a counsel of despair.

Trona: Please explain "Nowell" as it appears in the Victor album of Christmas carols—"The First Nowell."—Mrs. I. F. S. Answer: "Nowell" is an archaic spelling of Noel, "Christmas." Brooklyn: In stories of earlier days, women are mentioned as having the "vapors." When women had the vapors, men were very considerate of them. So, being a woman, I, too, would like to have the vapors, that is, if they are not too awful. What does vapors mean?—Mrs. LeC.

Answer: It's an obsolete word for the blues, or melancholia. A woman in depressed spirits was also said to be vapory. John Adams used it in his Diary, Works II (1771), "269 people have been here today, they say—the halt, the lame, the vapory, hypochondriac, all resort here."

Noah Webster (1828) defined "vapors" as: "A disease of nervous debility, in which a variety of strange images float in the brain, or appear as if visible."

OFF THE MARKET—The Michigan potato is almost non-existent in the highly competitive Chicago and Detroit market, where it is easier to purchase a spud from Idaho or Maine than it is to find one that was grown in nearby Michigan.

Both Michigan potato growers and dealers are alarmed over the situation. But the responsibility for the condition rests with the growers and the government—not the dealers. The dealers want and would like to purchase more tubers for the market but they report that growers are hanging onto their spuds so they will receive the federal support or subsidy price. This federal program will give the grower $2.30 per hundred weight if they are shipped to federal or state institutions, and $1.85 per hundred-weight if they are dumped.

The federal-state market news service reports that to mid-March 2,164 carlots of Michigan potatoes have been shipped, compared to 3,689 to the same date one year ago.

Idaho and Maine, however, have shipped nearly as many potatoes as they did a year ago; and Wisconsin has shipped 68 carloads more. Meanwhile Michigan growers, particularly in the Upper Peninsula, have about 600 carloads of their finest potatoes in storage under loan to the government. Most of them will never be offered to the consumer.

FISH AND HUNT—Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" last July featured the names of two Michigan conservation officers. The officers are Ed Fish of Thayer River and Max Hunt of Dowagiac, located in adjoining counties. The conservation department still gets inquiries asking "is it true?" and the department assures them that it is.

NESTING TIME—In a class with Ripley's "Believe It Or Not" is a recent communication from Gene Hesterberg, who is engaged in a study of deer yard management in this district for the conservation department. Gene writes:

"We usually think of spring and warm weather as the time for birds to be nesting, and seldom give thought that a few birds nest in Northern Michigan as early as February or March. One of these is the great horned owl. Though I have never flushed a female from her nest, she is said to be faithful—incubating the two or three eggs during the cold periods of late winter and early spring. It seldom builds a nest, but uses old structures already made by hawks and crows all of which are vacant during this season. This owl is essentially a bird of the deep forest and swamp, but frequently nests in woods near settled localities. They usually begin calling in late winter, and are not heard, at least not as frequently, during other seasons. About two weeks ago, I heard one hooting in the woods west of district headquarters at Crystal Falls.

"If any animal or bird lacks selectivity in choice of food it is this owl. Its bill of fare includes about any live, moving organism which might suggest food. Insects, fish, snakes, frogs, mice and rats, rabbits, and hares; birds of all sorts (including hawks, and other owls) and poultry, all are on the edible list. I examined the crop of one bird taken in the vicinity of Ann Arbor last fall, and it contained two mice, remains of a seed-eating bird (possibly one of the sparrows) and a 16 inch long garter snake. The great horned owl is the only organism with which I am familiar that will readily attack, kill and eat, skunks. Apparently it is little affected by the odiferous consequences of such a meal.

The great horned owl, so called for its ear tufts or horns, is a nocturnal bird. Unlike the snowy owl, which hunts during the daylight hours, this bird is seldom seen abroad in the daytime. The average farmer who raises chickens well knows some of the hunting habits of this owl. One man near Arnold, who had seen these owls near his farm last summer, remarked that if he put his chickens in the brooder house by dusk and kept them inside until after dawn he never lost any birds. If any of the flock roosted outside, however, they were sure prey of this predator.

"The question arises whether this owl is beneficial to man. In its preferred habitat of the deep woods it affects man's interests to a limited degree. When a nesting pair locates in woods near a rural community, they will normally take a few chickens and other birds. On the other hand, the great horned owl is a dreaded enemy of the much-disliked crow, which is on the predator list of the average farmer and sportsman. So, one must draw his conclusions with care when deciding

UNITED NATIONS—Now drawing to an end at Geneva, Switzerland, is a meeting of ministers and theological students representing all of the countries of the world, who are gathered there for the purpose of spreading peace, religion, and brotherhood. At that congress is the Rev. William H. Clark of Flint, one of four appointed representatives of the Episcopal church in the United States. He is the son of Mrs. William Clark, 226 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba.

Rev. Clark and his wife sailed for Europe Jan. 2, and will leave for America on the Queen Elizabeth April 2.

In a note to his mother, dated Feb. 13, and written in a Geneva restaurant, Rev. Clark had 15 young ministers or theological students who were present to affix signatures and the name of the country they represented. Included among the countries were Holland, France, Russia, Great Britain, Norway, France, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia—and the United States, of course.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Quite by accident Democratic Congressman Eddie Hebert, former news editor of the New Orleans states, stumbled on a new Republican policy the other day.

Hebert, who can't get out of the habit of being a newspaperman, got the first faint whiff of the new GOP policy when he introduced a bill making it a felony to bribe or attempt to bribe an athlete. His move, coming just after the bribery scandal involving New York football players, brought wide national acclaim, and while that acclaim was at its peak, Republican Congressman Leo Allen of Illinois strangely introduced an almost identical measure.

The Louisiana Democrat said nothing. But last week another peculiar incident happened.

Hebert, who has done a great job cleaning up jails and crime in the District of Columbia, introduced an alcoholics bill. The never-ending stream of drunks that crowd Washington, D. C., jails has been one of the capital's worst problems, and Hebert's bill set up machinery whereby alcoholism was to be treated not as a crime but as a disease. He proposed alcohol clinics to be paid for by the liquor interests.

The Hebert bill attracted immediate national attention. Psychiatrists, crime experts, even prohibitionists, hailed it as a solution to one of the country's great problems.

—MACARTHUR'S OLD FRIEND—

Whereupon, Republican Congressman Arthur Miller of Kimball, Neb., suddenly introduced an identical alcoholics bill of his own. Merely lifting the language of Congressman Hebert, he put his own name at the top. Miller is the Nebraska congressman who made headlines during the war when he published General MacArthur's own letter about his political ambitions. Since then Miller lapsed back into obscurity until he turned up in the new congress as chairman of a sub-committee on the District of Columbia.

And as sub-committee chairman, he announced that from now on the Hebert alcoholics bill would be known as the "Miller Bill."

Immediately a storm broke loose in the secret committee session which followed.

"I am rather embarrassed to bring this matter up," said Congressman Hebert. "I have no pride in the authorship. But I do have pride in sponsorship. I didn't know the chairman of the committee had reintroduced my bill until I read about it in the papers; which has caused me to wonder if he is fully acquainted with the procedure in committee in which an individual sponsors legislation."

"It is the right of the chairman of the majority party to introduce all good legislation," replied Rep. Miller.

"Not where an individual member sponsors legislation and where his own proposal is being carried out," insisted the gentleman from Louisiana.

—NEW GOP POLICY—

"The leadership told me to introduce this bill in my name," finally admitted Miller. "I personally hesitated about doing it but I was told by the leadership to do it. We are the majority party and we are going to be responsible for all good legislation."

"Then am I to understand that a Democrat or a member of the present minority party has no right to introduce and sponsor progressive and constructive legislation in his own name," asked Hebert.

"If it is a good bill we will reintroduce it in our name," replied Miller. "We are going to take the cream. You fellows have had your way long enough. You can take hold of stuff that is not good or inconsequential but when good legislation like this comes along, the leadership has decided that the majority party is going to sponsor it."

"In other words when a Democrat introduces a good bill, then it is going to be reintroduced by a Republican and the Republicans are going to take credit for it?" asked Hebert.

"That's right," replied Miller.

"Then the present majority party is of the opinion that the minority party has no rights at all?" asked the Louisiana congressman.

"I said I was instructed to introduce this bill in my own name," evaded Miller.

"That all I want to know," retorted Hebert. "I guess I'm in the position of a full-back in a football game who has bucked the ball down the field for 99 yards only to find the quarterback calling his own signal to take the ball over for the touchdown."

And thus was started the new policy of the 80th Congress.

—UNDER THE DOME—

Admiral Ernie King, retired commander of the fleet, is retiring his memoirs under the title "From Argentina to Potsdam." Argentina was where the Atlantic charter was written, off Newfoundland. Economy-minded Republicans might check into how much naval personnel the Admiral is using to help him author it. . . . President Truman, chatting with Broadway Columnist Earl Wilson the other day, said, "When you get back to New York, be sure to give my regards to Toots Shor." New York's Restaurant Shor is Hannegan's close pal, and twice has been invited to the White House.

Escanaba Smelt Causes Furore In Washington

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington Correspondent

Washington—Congressional activity on all fronts almost ground to a halt Thursday when the first shipment of Michigan smelt since 1939 arrived in the Capitol and Port Huron's portly Jesse Wolcott lost the Congressional smelt-eating championship to Ohio's massive Clarence Brown.

Scene of the battle was the Speaker's dining room. The tables were arranged in a horseshoe around the contestants' board. In the hall outside was another long table for the press and Congressmen's staffs.

At the head table sat Congressmen Fred Bradley (who supplied the smelts, which came from Escanaba) Harold Youngblood, Paul Shafer, John Bennett and Roy Woodruff and Senator Homer Ferguson. Senator Arthur Vandenberg, also scheduled for the head table, couldn't make it.

Directly in front of the head table was that of the contestants. Across it, Wolcott glared at Brown and Brown glared at Wolcott. Former Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, now minority leader, sat there, too, to keep the peace.

Brown, determined to wipe out Wolcott's 1939 48-45 victory, got off in front and was never headed. In no time, he had a pile of smelt vertebrae next to him that looked like an elephant graveyard in miniature. Once in the lead, he took to heckling the laboring Wolcott.

As Brown passed smelt no. 31, he yelled, "I am preparing for a fish dinner tonight." Then he protested that Wolcott was "breaking them in two." This drew from the Chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee the complaint that Brown was not eating the tails.

Actually, there was no official count of the smelt the two devoured, but Brown was declared the winner by Speaker Joseph Martin, who acted as referee, and there were those spectators who said that Rayburn also had out-eaten Wolcott. In the crowd were majority leader Charles Halleck of Indiana, majority whip Leslie Arends of Illinois, and members of the House Merchant Marine Committee, which Bradley heads. They were invited to be present "so there may be no dispute in the future between these two corpulent gentlemen."

The contest ended in a great flashing of photographers' bulbs and the reflection by Brown: "It's a sad thing to see a champion go down."

The gustatory match in which Brown and Wolcott engaged had been hanging fire since 1939, the last year in which there were Escanaba smelt. Brown had protested Wolcott's three-smelt victory that year on the ground that "Mr. Wolcott had eaten neither the heads nor the tails of the fish put before him."

"As a matter of fact," Brown had then claimed, "several whole smelt were found under Mr. Wolcott's chair at the completion of the banquet."

Said the Ohioan: "Mr. Wolcott's

Upper Peninsula Druggists Will Meet In August

Ishpeming—Preliminary arrangements for the 1947 convention of the Upper Peninsula division of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical association which will be held in Ishpeming August 18 and 19, were made at a meeting of 10 Ishpeming and Negaunee druggists at the Country Cabin this week.

C. R. Johnson, vice-president of the U. P. division, was named chairman of the convention and the Mather Inn was chosen as headquarters. Committees soon will begin work on development of a program, which will include discussions of merchandising methods and ethical pharmaceutical practices, and speeches by outstanding men in the drug field.

E. L. Pohl, Escanaba, secretary of the U. P. association, assisted in planning the convention. About 250 persons from the Upper Peninsula and a large group from Lower Michigan are expected to attend. Members of the Michigan state board of pharmacy may be present.

Organized about 15 years ago in Iron Mountain, the association now includes practically all druggists in the Peninsula in its membership. Officers, in addition to Johnson and Pohl, are George P. Vigo, Houghton, president, and W. J. Hebbard, Ishpeming, treasurer.

Bonifas Tech Welcomes Visitors Tuesday With Souvenirs And Prizes

Tuesday night, from 7 'til 9 o'clock, the Bonifas Technical School will be wide open for visitors, with souvenirs for every Escanaba adult, and prizes for a fortunate few.

Announced last week by Superintendent of schools John A. Lemmer, and Lyle Shaw, director of the technical school, Visitors' Night has two objectives: to make the work of the technical school better known to the public; and to emphasize the fact that the technical school, despite its name, and its location across Ludington from the Junior high, is only another department of the Escanaba high school.

Full Classes

Tuesday night, high school students will be at work throughout the building, with full classes going on in all departments in the machine shop, printing, welding, auto motive shop, drafting, wood-working shop. Adult visitors will be encouraged to make themselves at home, to butt in any place, to ask any and all questions, and to try—under supervision, of course—any tool, job, or process in the place.

Spare welding masks and gauntlets have been provided for any visitor who nourishes a secret belief that he too could run up a bead with an electric-arc welding torch.

Graduates Equipped

The Bonifas Technical School, as are all similar schools, founded on the idea that education does not necessarily connote an extensive familiarity with Latin declensions, Greek syntax, and the political activities of Petronius Arbitrator, but should rather be a preparation of the individual for making his way in life.

The student who graduates from the Escanaba high school after taking a vocational course, is not turned out as a master printer, a master cabinet maker, or an architect, but he is sent out with an extensive and varied knowledge of each trade or craft, and much better equipped to become a master therein.

Six Departments

There are six departments in the Technical school: machine shop under Joseph Petryke; the automotive shop under Lyle Shaw; the welding shop under James Deane; the wood-shop under John Nicholas; the drafting department under R. C. Shaw; the print shop under George Grab.

In each department, the academic is combined with the practical—so much theory and class-work, so much work in the shop. Visual education through instructional movies is particularly stressed. The emphasis, however, is on shop work.

In preparation for Visitors' Night on Tuesday, the various shops have prepared small souvenirs to be passed out to each visitor.

Fishermen Kill Coyote On Ice

Menominee — A 35-pound female coyote made two mistakes yesterday morning and paid for them with its life.

Mistake No. 1 was to run within 400 feet of Ray Everard, of Ingallston, and Otto Miller, 507 Pearson avenue, who were lifting gill-nets set in Green bay ice.

Mistake No. 2 was to head toward Green island and not the shore when the two commercial fishermen unhitched their Model A Ford from their fish shanty and started pursuit. The chase started at a place about a mile from shore off the Geo. Grabowsky fishery in Ingallston. Green bay ice was an unbroken field which could be traversed in any direction by cars.

In all governmental, judicial and civil affairs it is of utmost importance to all that the best qualified men be chosen to handle our affairs—to help guide us unerringly over the rough and difficult paths of everyday living.

Ray Derham, our candidate for Circuit Judge, was selected to positions of trust by former Presidents of the United States Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt, former Governors Albert M. Sleeper, Alex J. Groesbeck, Fred W. Green and Murray D. VanWagoner, and former Mayors of Iron Mountain Richard Dundon and Joseph Giacobina.

These national, state and local leaders, searching for a man with recognized ability and integrity, picked Ray Derham for these important positions of trust because they KNEW he was "the Man for the Job."

That's why voters in the 25th Judicial District want Ray Derham to be "their Judge" . . . because they KNOW he is the logical choice . . . because they KNOW he has the ability and background to be a great Judge . . . because they KNOW he will be fair and impartial in all of his dealings.

Two Presidents . . . Four Governors . . . Two Mayors KNEW THEIR MAN! Voters of the 25th Judicial District KNOW THEIR MAN TOO — that's why Ray Derham is their choice — because they KNOW he has the wisdom, the experience and the physical vigor to make decisions with firmness, yet with fairness and courage.

Distinguished by utmost simplicity of detail was the lovely spring wedding of Saturday morning at which Patricia Shepeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Shepeck, of 614 South Ninth street, became the bride of Francis G. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Lewis, 311 First Avenue south.

The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Martin B. Melican at a nine o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church. Frank Hinn sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" at the offertory of the mass, and Mrs. William Ramspeck, organist for the service, played the traditional bridal marches.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a tailored suit of light beige, a flower hat of pink and harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses to match the color of the hat. Miss Eileen Lewis, sister of the bridegroom, who was her only attendant, wore a suit of royal blue with a white hat and navy accessories and pink carnations formed her corsage.

William Shepeck, Jr., served as Mr. Lewis' best man.
A wedding breakfast for immediate members of the two families was served in the private dining room of the House of Ludington. All white flowers, with the wedding cake, were used in the decorative theme of the table at which the bride and groom were seated and spring flowers in pastel shades centered the other tables.

Mr. Lewis and his bride, following their honeymoon trip to an unannounced destination, will make their home in Lansing.

Guests at Wedding
The bride, a graduate of the St. Joseph hospital in Chicago, has been a member of the nurses' staff of St. Francis hospital in Escanaba for the past year. Mr. Lewis is attending Michigan State college in East Lansing.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Tony Shepeck of Green Bay; Mrs. Frank Finn of Marquette; Mrs. A. Voelker and son, Robert, of Stephenson; William Shepeck, Jr., of Houghton; Francis Shepeck, DePere, Wis.; Robert Finn, Racine, Wis.; and William Mulvaney of Lansing.

Scouts Collect 14 Tons Of Scrap Paper Yesterday

Boy Scouts of Escanaba yesterday collected a total of approximately 14 tons of scrap paper in their latest drive to raise funds to purchase Scouting equipment, it was announced by S. N. Bradford, district Scout executive.

"The response by the people of the city was very good, and the Boy Scouts appreciate it," Bradford said. "The sale of the paper will bring the Scouts about $140, which will be divided proportionately among the troops in the city for the purchase of equipment."

The collection was made with the cooperation of the Escanaba public works department, which loaned four trucks and drivers. The paper was loaded into the trucks by the Scouts. The drivers were Harold Ball, Henry Kholmman, David Gerou and Albert Auger.

Residents of the city placed their scrap paper in bundles and cardboard boxes on porches and at the curb for the collection. The collection yesterday was the second largest of the several such drives made by the Scouts. The previous high was 15 tons.

State Bonus Blanks Coming Out April 1; Procedure Outlined

BY JAMES A. O. CROWE

Lansing (AP)—Application procedure for the State Veteran's Bonus, outlined today by the Adjutant General's Office, ought to be a cinch for former GI Joe and James who lived through all the forms they made out in service.

Here's how it was explained by Major Wilbur J. Myers of the Adjutant General's staff:

First of all, who may apply? Men and women who served honorably 90 days or more in the United States Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard between Sept. 16, 1940, and June 30, 1946, are eligible. Of course, payment is limited to those who were residents of Michigan at the time of entering service and for at least six months previously.

How much do eligible veterans get?

Payments are based on $10 for each month or major fraction of domestic service and $15 for foreign service. The limit is $500.

Myers pointed out that beneficiaries of deceased veterans will get the full $500—no matter how long the veteran served.

Where and when will applications be available?

The four-page blanks will be available April 1 from local veterans counseling offices, veterans organizations, Red Cross offices, banks, city and county clerks, large employers and labor union offices.

Eligible veterans now living out of the state may write for blanks to the Adjutant General's Office, Bonus Section, Lansing 1, Mich.

There are eight separate styles of blanks, but this is not as formidable as it sounds.

The blanks are divided into two main classes—one to be made out by the veteran himself and the other for beneficiaries.

In each main class, there are four types of forms—one each to be made out for Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard service.

Normally each applicant would only fill out one of the eight types, but Major Myers cautioned that in the usual case of a person who served in more than one service, he must make out blanks for each service.

Having his blank, what does the veteran do now?

He may obtain help in filling it out where he got the blank.

Staffs are now being trained for that purpose.

Page one of the blank carries spaces for identification purposes—name, address, dates of service, etc.

The second page is for the use of the Adjutant General's office, and is to be left blank by the applicant.

Pages three and four provide spaces for transcription of the information on the veterans discharge papers and report of separation.

The blanks when completed must be notarized as to their accuracy, so the veteran should take his discharge and separation report with him to the notary.

The blank, completely filled out by the veteran himself to the Adjutant General's Office, Bonus Section, Lansing 1, Michigan.

It is not necessary to send discharge papers or any other documents with the blank.

And that's all.

Bonus checks will be mailed out in strict sequence of the receipt of the applications, Major Myers promised.

"But veterans shouldn't be in a rush," he cautioned. "There will obviously be a tremendous crush of applications the first 90 days, and it will take us a while to dig out from under it."

The first checks will be mailed out "sometime toward the middle of April," the Major declared.

"We might add two things under the heading of miscellaneous," he said.

"First, to be eligible to collect the $500 payment for deceased veterans, the beneficiaries must be husbands, wives, or children of the veteran or parents and guardians on the date the veteran when he went into service."

"Second, the Legislature has put a two-year limitation on applications—that means they must reach us by March 19, 1949."

Board Retains Road Commission; Charges Aired At Munising

Munising—After hearing charges of negligence, faulty judgment and discrimination filed against the Alger county road commission by a citizens committee and the county highway and bridges committee, the Alger county board of supervisors voted 7 to 5 Saturday to retain the present commission. The board's action was taken after an all-day hearing in a crowded circuit court room at Munising.

The road commission, denying the charges, expressed their appreciation for vindication by the board, and promised cooperation in administering the highway affairs of the county. Members of the commission are: John H. Gattis, Rupert P. Nelson and Milton Touzel. George Depew is county highway engineer. Attorney George Quinell of Marquette acted as counsel for the commission at the hearing.

Heading the citizens committee which sought removal of the commission was H. L. Dunklee. Action in the dispute was started back in January. The committee of three of the county supervisors included Edmund Oulette, Neil Ullitalo and James LaComb. The committee claimed the road commission displayed discrimination in clearing roads of snow, disregarding instructions of the board in plowing roads, contracted more indebtedness than was authorized, purchased poor equipment, and otherwise showed negligence in winter upkeep of roads.

The hearing Saturday attracted wide interest, and a large crowd attended from the start at 10 a. m. to the closing at 6:30 p. m.

Milwaukee Firm Will Open Large Foundry In Old Extract Plant

C-C ANNOUNCES NEW INDUSTRY

To Produce Grey Iron Castings; Will Employ 125

Dudley Jewell, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, announced late yesterday that arrangements had been completed for the establishment here of what promises to be the largest grey iron foundry in the Upper Peninsula.

Herbert J. Dreger of Milwaukee, for many years affiliated with the General Foundries company, yesterday closed a deal for the purchase of the old extract building at Wells from the S. M. Johnson company of Escanaba.

In looking for a location for the new foundry, Dreger contacted the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce several weeks ago, and the industrial committee, headed by Gust Asp, immediately began a canvass of available sites. The old extract plant was suggested as a location, and after an inspection of the property Dreger began negotiations for its acquisition from the S. M. Johnson company.

Will Employ 125

"We plan to begin repairing the roof and installing equipment in the building by April 15," Dreger said last night. "We expect to be employing about 25 persons by June 1, and want to increase the force to at least 125 within a year."

Dreger announced that Charles Richards, an experienced foundryman of Milwaukee, will be the plant superintendent. Except for a few other men in executive capacities, all local labor will be employed.

The new foundry will produce grey iron castings for the automotive, industrial, agricultural and road machinery trade. Most of the production will go to manufacturing concerns in the Detroit, Milwaukee and Chicago industrial areas.

About 20,000 square feet of space will be immediately available for the foundry operations. The concrete and steel building, which adjoins the site of the old tannery destroyed by fire recently, was erected by the Michigan Tanning and Extract company before World War I. It was acquired at public auction by the S. M. Johnson company in 1928.

Many New Industries

Closing of the deal for the Dreger foundry adds another to the long list of industries that have been attracted to Escanaba since the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the City of Escanaba launched its industrial expansion program three years ago.

Other industries that have been established here in this brief period include: the Harnischfeger Corporation, Delta Furniture and the Motors Rebuilding companies in the Steel-Wallace building, Worth Fishing Tackle company; Fence Company of America, Cedar Products company and the Arbour company, manufacturers of rustic fences and furniture; Solar Furniture Company, Hiawatha Plywood Corporation, Shepek Dimension & Lumber Company, Insulation Manufacturers Corporation, Venus Garment Company, X-Gl Battery Company, Hiawatha Manufacturing Company, Elsenrath Glove Co., to occupy the former Coliseum building; Superior Products Company, three concrete block factories, and a large number of service establishments. The Freeman Furniture company, which was located in the old tannery building, was destroyed by fire a few months ago, and as yet no new quarters have been found for this industry.

Forest Service To Show Educational Films During Week

During the coming week the U. S. Forest Service under the direction of James W. Jay, district ranger at Rapid River, will show the motion pictures "Realm of Wild" and "Stop Forest Fires" at a number of places in Delta county.

The following schedule has been arranged for the week:

Monday, March 24 — Alton Grange hall, Ensign.

Tuesday, March 25 — Ogontz Grange hall, Ensign.

Wednesday, March 26 — Bay de Noc Grange hall, Stonington.

At all of the above places the movies will be shown at 7:30 o'clock (CST).

The films also will be shown at the clubhouse at Nahma on Friday evening, March 28, at 7:30 (EST).

The forest service is now reconditioning its fire tools and equipment in preparation for an early fire season.

RUSS DEMANDS BARE WEAKNESS

Soviet Nation Starved For Both Hard And Soft Goods

BY PETER EDSON

Washington (NEA)—There are two ways of looking at the four-point program for Germany presented to the Big Four Council meeting at Moscow by Foreign Minister Molotov. These demands are:

1—Ten billion dollars worth of German reparations for Russia.

2—Raising the German level of industry to give more production from which Russia can collect more reparations.

3—End of the American-British merger of occupation zones in Germany.

4—Russian participation in control of Ruhr and Rhineland.

At first glance it may appear that these four demands hopelessly divide the Big Four and make impossible the Secretary of State Marshall's task of trying to get agreement on Germany's future. This is the dim view of Moscow developments.

A more hopeful slant is that the Russian demands constitute an amazing confession that Russia's own internal economy is in terrible condition. If this is the true state of affairs, it should strengthen Marshall's bargaining position instead of weakening it.

Arguments in support of this theory go like this:

Immediately after the end of the war in Europe, the Russians started to dismantle German and Austrian factories in their zones of occupation and move them to Russia. These seizures threatened to wreck central European economy.

As time has gone on, the Russians have been learning that moving factories was not enough.

Moving a mill of any kind took it away from natural sources of materials and labor supply. Russians, of course, took the production, but that's what they wanted in the first place.

Swap Goods for Food

This may be the key to the Russian economic situation. The Soviet is unquestionably starved for goods—hard and soft. It needs iron and steel and textiles and clothing and shoes and every manufactured product you can name. It needs $10 billion worth.

This is a staggering order, but it may strengthen Marshall's bargaining position at Moscow in this way:

The Potsdam reparations deal provided that in exchange for 15 per cent of Germany's excess factories, the Russians would give the western occupation zones food from the Soviet's agriculturally rich eastern zone. It was when the Russians failed to come through with the food that the Americans and British shut down on delivering the Russians more factories. If now the Russians have discovered they don't want factories but do want their products, the Americans, British, and French may be in a position to strike a new bargain. They can swap goods for food.

No Production, No Food

Food is the key to the whole German recovery problem, as ex-President Hoover has just pointed out. Supplying the British and American zones with imported food is what costs the American and British taxpayers money.

The level of German industrial production set by the Allied Control Council last year is based on German steel capacity of 7.5 million tons a year and actual production of 5.8 million tons. But today production has not reached a rate of 5 million tons.

The goal was set low to keep Germany's war potential down. But now even the British are supporting Russian demands that German steel production must be raised to 10 or 12 million tons a year, with a corresponding increase in all German industrial production. Production can't be raised at all, however, till there is more food.

The catch is that the Russians may not be able to supply the food from their zone of Germany because they need it for their own people at home. If that is the situation, then the Russians are in really bad economic condition, and the position of the western powers is by comparison all the better for bargaining.

Week end visitors at the John Neadow home were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pilon and children of Nahma, Mr. and Mrs. George Lundberg, son Billy and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundberg of Manistique and John Neadow Jr. of Kenton, Michigan. Mrs. George Roberts was taken to the Shaw hospital in Manistique Friday night for an emergency operation for relief from appendicitis.

John Neadow Sr. and Joseph Hardy made a business trip to the Copper Country and returned Wednesday night.

Frank Wilfred and Norman Strasler motored to Oshkosh, Wis. last week.

Mrs. Frank Wilfred spent the week end with Mrs. William Strasler.

"Rented the first day" said Smith

crease in all German industrial production. Production can't be raised at all, however, till there is more food.

The catch is that the Russians may not be able to supply the food from their zone of Germany because they need it for their own people at home. If that is the situation, then the Russians are in really bad economic condition, and the position of the western powers is by comparison all the better for bargaining.

STUDY LAMPREY
TRAP METHODS

Fight Against Menace
To Fishing To Be Launched

The simple method employed at the Manistique paper mill for trapping lamprey may play an important part in the eradication program against these parasites soon to be conducted jointly by Michigan and Wisconsin.

Matt Patterson, supervisor of commercial fishing and Donald Euers, conservation warden, both with the Wisconsin department of conservation and stationed at Sturgeon Bay, Wis., while on a visit to the State Fish Hatchery at Thompson Friday afternoon, also checked over the place at the Manistique Pulp & Paper company mill where the lamprey eels make their annual run up Weston avenue creek.

In company with Stanley Shust, regional fisheries superintendent at Thompson, they conferred with Walter Burns, whose trap at the mill has been effective in capturing thousands of lamprey in the past year and announced that traps of this sort will be set up and tried out in some of Wisconsin's streams where these eels occur.

The trap is simply a trough made of sheet iron set up at the opening of the sewer which drains the hot pond at the paper mill. The opposite end of the trough is set slightly out of the water over an empty gasoline drum. The eels swim up from the river, through the sewer, up the trough and land with a thud in the drum. The drum is slightly larger than an ordinary wash tub and during the spawning season has had to be emptied as many as eight times in one day. Each eel is about the size of an eighteen inch length of garden hose, so it is no exaggeration to say that thousands of them were caught in this trap last year.

When sea lamprey leave the Great Lakes to spawn in May and June this year, observers will be watching for them at no less than 68 streams in which they have been known to run before, the Michigan Department of Conservation announces. This network of volunteer observers the conservation department fisheries men hope to have posted along the state's entire shoreline. More streams may be added to the original 68 listed. Finding precisely where the parasites spawn in numbers enough to warrant control measures is one move in the campaign to eradicate these enemies to food fishes.

Weirs costing several thousand dollars have been set up in certain runways and require 24-hour tending for weeks at the peak of the run. More economical means are being sought and the device made by Mr. Burns may be a solution to the problem in many in-

Local State Forestry
Office Has Wide Range Of Duties Assigned

Something of the accomplishments achieved in the Manistique River State Forestry office since it came into being nine months ago is revealed in a short resume of the work by Carl Makel, state forester in charge.

In applying forestry methods to the Manistique River State Forest, the duties involved are many and widely varied from contracting and supervising private logging operations, eliminating fire hazards, safeguarding recreational possibilities and protecting wildlife.

Although timber sale is very much a side issue in the maintenance of this forest preserve, which is made up of state owned land in the south half of Schoolcraft county and the southeast quarter of Delta county, timber sales in the past nine months have brought the state $4,500 in stumpage. Materials removed were nearly all pulpwood or posts. Very few saw logs were removed. About 95 percent of the products were marketed in Manistique—either through the paper mill or through local timber products dealers.

The state issued 60 permits on 2,600 acres in this period. Most of these permits were on 40 acre tracts, but some were larger. All timber cut was under state regulation and according to specifications set up by the forestry division of the conservation department.

Cuttings on state owned land are made for the following purposes:

One—Mature or over-mature timber is removed to make room for younger growth. A good deal of jackpine is removed in this class of cutting.

Two—Release cuttings such as aspen and white birch which is over balsam and spruce. This gives the balsam and spruce a better chance to thrive.

Three—Salvage cuttings, such as cutting timber which has been killed by fire or disease or has been wind thrown.

Four—Thinning—Cutting out trees spaced too closely together for maximum growth rate.

Sanitation cutting—Taking out diseased trees to prevent spread of the blight.

Deeryard improvement—Cuttings made to promote the growth of young cedar and to furnish feed for deer in winter months.

Except in the case of salvage cuttings or special cuttings, the operators are held to a minimum diameter limit so that there will be a stand of timber left after the cutting is completed. Diameter limits vary with the stands and the timber species but are always high enough to assure a good stand.

No white or Norway pine are sold for timber unless they are dead trees. They are rigidly safeguarded and left for seed trees.

At all times supervision of timber cutting is maintained with a view to safeguarding the timbered areas. If the cutting out of a few saw logs means the destruction of a number of small trees that eventually will become valuable timber, the big trees will have to remain untouched. Consideration is also given to the scenic value of

To Make Plans
For Next Year's Skate Program

Hoping to get an early start on next year's ice activities the Manistique Recreation Board is calling a meeting to be held at the court house on the evening of Thursday, March 27, when plans will be made to get a club formed and on an independent working basis. This meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock.

A meeting to be held at 8 o'clock the same evening, also sponsored by the Recreation Board, will have to do with getting the local softball league launched for the coming season.

Sponsors and managers of teams for the league are especially requested to be present to talk things over and make preliminary surveys for the season. Schedules and entries will be arranged later Thor Reque, recreational director states.

Reque states that four fields will be ready for playing on as soon as the season opens. Two of these fields will be on the old fairgrounds, one at the quarry plot and one on the west side. All steel backstops will be set up in the meantime.

It is the opinion of some individuals that there is no Navajo woolen blanket in New Mexico which is more than 100 years old.

Spring Flowers Still Rushing Spring Season

A recent article in the Daily Press concerning a bed of snowdrops that have been poking their heads through a snowbank at the Gust Peterson home, 513 Range street, has caused much comment, much of which is skeptical.

To offset this, Mr. Peterson brought three blossoms to the Press office and a daily study of them has been productive of some interesting sidelights.

When plucked, the blossoms were buds of snowy white which gave one the impression that they were of an unusually frail nature. Left in the bright sun, they opened revealing a flower almost identical to the fuchsia except that color was entirely absent. And now, on the fourth day since being Miss Lucille Haas coached the oratorical declaimers and John Logan the dramatic declaimers. Daniel Neville is in charge of public speech work at the school.

The other two contests will be held Tuesday afternoon at the high school.

First and second place winners in all four contests are eligible to compete in the district meet at Manistique sometime in April. First place winners of the district meets are eligible to compete in the regional meet to be held here May 16.

Bessemer, Norway, Greenland And Bergland Win U.P. Cage Laurels

PERKINS LOSES 40-37 DECISION

Lake Linden Squeezed Out Of Class B Title, 46-45

Two heart-breaking games were lost in the Class B and Class E finals of the Upper Peninsula tournament at Marquette last night, when Bessemer defeated Lake Linden for the U. P. Class B championship by one bare free throw, 46-45, and Bergland edged out the gallant Perkins team, 40-37, to take the Class E title.

The Lake Linden-Bessemer game won finally on a free throw by Balazs of Bessemer, who was a battle all the way, with the Lake Linden team leading at the quarter, and only one point behind at the half. In the middle of the third period, Lake Linden came up to lead again, until a spurt jumped Bessemer ahead, 41-38, at the end of that period.

A couple of field goals and a free throw at the opening of the final period sent Lake Linden into the lead again, until, in the final seconds of play, Bessemer tied it up at 45 with a field goal by Kangas. Balazs dumped in the free throw for the one point win.

In the Class E competition, Perkins ran into one of those games last night, and it had to be the finals of the U. P. tournament. It was a game which might have gone either way.

Paced by VanDamme, who scored 21 points for the game's high scoring mark, Perkins was ahead most of the way. Vandecavey and Carignan were both solid last night. Perkins came out of the first half with a 2 point lead, 16-14.

Berland made its play and won the game in the middle of the third period. Rangy and fast-breaking, the Bergland lads got hot at once, and slid through Perkins' defense to lay up those 3 title-winning points.

The third period ended with Bergland leading, 31-28, and Perkins was unable to overcome that slight lead.

New Track Record Set By Armed In $25,000 Miami Race

Miami, Fla., March 22 (P)—Mighty Armed sped to victory and a new track record in the $25,000 added mile and a quarter Gulfstream Handicap today, regaining the lustre tarnished by his fifth place beating in the Santa Anita.

The Calumet farm Gold Gelding made the distance in 2:01 2-5 to finish a length ahead of his stablemate, Pot O'Luck. B. A. Murphy's Concordian was third, two lengths behind the Calumet entries.

Armed, already greatest Gelding money winner, boosted his total earnings to approximately $482,775 by capturing the rich event, edging closer to Whirlaway and Stytle.

St. Louis, March 22 (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Red Sox are favored to repeat as pennant winners in the National and American League this season, according to odds released today by James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner.

ILLINOIS WINS PURDUE RELAYS

Michigan Loses Team Title; Low Hurdles Record Broken

BY JERRY LISKA

Lafayette, Ind., March 22 (P)—Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace, America's top Olympic hurdling prospect, bettered the American indoor 60-yard low hurdles record, while Illinois, smashing the American distance medley relay record romped off with team laurels in the fifth Purdue Relays tonight.

Dillard, the meet's only individual double-winner, was clocked in 36.8 in the 60 high, topping the American mark of $06.9 shared by four timber-toppers.

The Big Nine champion Illinois, sparked by brilliant quarter-mile Herb McKenley's swift three-year-old, ended Michigan's three-year monopoly in the university division with a total of 46 1/2 points.

It was McKenley, fleet Jamaican who last week ran the world's fastest indoor quarter-mile at 47.9 in the Illinois Tech Relays, who carried Illinois to a new American distance medley record of 10:08.3.

McKenley hustled the Illinois to a 20-yard lead on his 440-yard leg.

With Bob Rehberg and John Twomey finishing out the medley event, Illinois' record-shattering time was two seconds faster than the American mark of 10:10.3 set by Indiana in 1940.

Paced by Dillard, who also capped the 60-yard high hurdles, defeating heralded Bill Porter of Northwestern, Baldwin Wallace ended Miami of Ohio's four year reign as college division champion with 39 points. This barely shaded second-place Michigan Normal which had 38 1/2 points.

Baroda Annexes Downstate Title

East Lansing, Mich., March 22 (P)—Baroda—the team whose gymnasium blew up before the season started—tonight annexed its first Lower Peninsula basketball championship by downing Haslett in the Class D title contest, 41-32.

An estimated 10,000 fans were on hand in Michigan State College's Jensen Field House for the first of four Lower Peninsula games.

CLASS C CLASH GOES OVERTIME

Classy Gwinn Tossers Fall, 55-54; Vulcan Class D Runnerup

In the Class C and D Upper Peninsula tournament finals at Iron Mountain last night, Norway, defending Class C champions, scratched out an overtime win over Gwinn, 55-54; and the Greenland - Mass powerhouse snowed Vulcan under a 63-48 score for the Class D title.

Class C
After trailing into the last quarter, Norway's Vikings went into a galloping spurt that chewed a 7 point Gwinn lead into nothing, and tied up the score with a minute and a half left to play.

In the last 30 seconds, Larson of Norway dumped in a side-shot for a two-point lead. 20 seconds later, Peklie of Gwinn made a one-handed, go-curse-you! heave that slid through the net without touching the back-board to tie the game up for an overtime period.

The overtime was a continuation of the ding-dong final quarter. Hill of Norway dumped in the winning basket.

Class D
In the Class D finals the tall and powerful Greenland - Mass team, favorably compared by the experts assembled at Iron Mountain with any Class B team in the peninsula, took a 20 point lead over Vulcan in the first quarter, let it slip to 17 at the half, pushed it back to 20 at the end of the third period.

Ernest Johnson, the sharp-shoot-inest sharpshooter on a team of hawk-eyes, laid up 26 points against Vulcan, which with the 30 made against Dollar Bay Thursday night, gave him 56 points for the tournament.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderson

Here's a tip for high schools or other athletic groups who may be contemplating the installation of a lighting system for their athletic fields. Don't use wooden poles or if you do, be sure you can control the woodpecker menace. The Escanaba Softball association will probably be forced to remove all of its wooden poles at the lighted field here because the pesky woodpeckers have pecked the poles apart. Now the pole climbers hesitate to mount the standards because of their unsafe condition. The softball association plans to change them with metal poles, impervious to woodpeckers.

Steel poles are not cheap, but they stand the test of time. Eight steel poles, four 60 feet high and four 40 feet high, are estimated to cost about $2800, which presumably will be the next big outlay for the softball association for capital improvements at the lighted field. Also envisioned for future improvements at the field are new permanent bleachers, new backstop, heavier concentration of light which means additional lamps, installation of water system, leveling of the parking area, particularly beyond the outfield and, eventually, construction of a second diamond within the enclosure.

A messy scandal in the sale of basketball tickets at Madison Square Garden is brewing. They say that you can't buy tickets for any forthcoming game at the Garden, no matter how far in advance you make application. The same answer with every inquiry: All sold out. Where are the tickets? The speculators have them and the public pays through the nose. The matter has been referred to the district attorney and police commissioner for investigation, but thus far, neither has indicated any response to the goading for action.

Plaudits to the St. Joseph high school for introducing baseball in the Trojans' interscholastic program this spring. The matter of securing a schedule may offer some problems but Escanaba will field a team, as will Norway, Kingsford, Iron Mountain and Iron River. Supt. Lee Godin reports Perkins high school is interested in baseball. What about Gladstone, Manistique and Munising, all lively baseball communities? High school baseball is on the way up.

Wisconsin Third In NCAA Playoff, Beats Navy 50-49

New York, March 22 (P)—A long shot by Glen Selbo with six seconds remaining gave Wisconsin a 50-49 triumph over Navy tonight and brought the Big Nine champions third place honors in the Eastern Regional NCAA basketball playoffs.

After trailing most of the way Navy grabbed the lead with only 16 seconds of the game left when John Barrow's tip-in made it 49-48, but Selbo saved the day with his beautiful one-hander which brought a roar from the crowd of some 18,000 in Madison Square Garden.

The Middles sped down the court and Bob Seale fired from the free throw circle, but the shot was wide as the game ended and the Navy which lost only one game in 17 starts during the regular season, bowed out of the playoffs with its second straight defeat.

PENINSULA SKI JUMPERS STAR

Norwegian Leaps 290 Feet In Exhibition At Olympian Hill

BY JIM HUTCHESON
Nyak, Wash., March 22 (P)—A chunky Norwegian with legs like steel springs exceeded the American ski jumping record by one foot today after Joe Perrault of Ishpeming, Mich., dominated by a wide margin the first day's competition for the United States Olympic ski jumping team. Squat Arnold Kongsgaard of Kongsberg, Norway, after failing to match the record on two scheduled jumps, leaped a third time for 290 feet in exhibition. The leap on the Milwaukee Road's Olympian hill was one foot beyond the national record set by the late Torger Toke at Iron Mountain, Mich., in 1942.

It was two feet more than Toke's short-lived American record made on Olympian Hill, the previous year.

Kongsgaard's leap will not count as a record because it was not competitive.

Perrault, with beautiful form, jumped 251 feet for the longest Olympic trials leap of the day and scored a total of 216.6 points to 211.1 points for the second place man, Walter Bietila, eldest of the famed Ishpeming, Mich., family of jumpers.

The jump was on the Milwaukee Road's Olympian Hill where Torger Toke set a short-lived American record of 288 feet in 1941.

The effort of the American Olympic competitors, however, trailed the day's top performance by Norway's Arnold Kongsgaard, who leaped 273 feet in an exhibition jump. Earlier he made 280 on an initial practice run.

In the Olympics trials, which will include two jumps for each competitor tomorrow, it was a big day for Michigan as the state placed three of the top four, including two of the famed Bietila brothers. The third Bietila, Roy, placed sixth.

The summary of the Olympic trials jumps (six-man Olympic team to be chosen after Sunday's finals):

Sverre Fredheim, St. Paul, Minn.,	226, 231, 208.45.
Roy Bietila, Iron Mountain, Mich.,	236, 251, 205.8.
Eugene Wilson, Coleraine, Minn.,	225, 222, 203.5.
James Lawson, Ishpeming, 207,	229, 198.75.
Walter Nelson, Beloit, Wis.,	212, 190, 197.4.
Leonard Soler, St. Paul, 204,	222, 197.35.
George Wright, Duluth, Minn.,	222, 239, 195.2.
Wilmer Hampton, Wenatchee, Wash.,	202, 227, 194.

Pete Dube Tries Out Ice Sheet At Pullar Rink, Soo

Sault Ste. Marie.—Peter C. Dube, Escanaba's veteran and champion speed skater, spent Tuesday and Wednesday in the Sault visiting old friends and taking a turn or two at the Pullar ice rink.

A turn or two to Dube, who can still whip off a mile in less than three minutes, consists of a two-hour skating session in the afternoon and a similar non-stop performance in the evening.

As a matter of fact his agility on the long blades had the youngsters at the arena gaping.

"A three-mile run every other day or so to keep my heart in condition gives me the stamina I need on the skates—and so it's nothing for me to keep on skating for a few hours," Dube explained to Sault youngsters to whom he demonstrated a few principles of speed skating.

While in the Sault Dube visited with his old friend and skating companion, Jim Troyer. Around in 1898 and 1899 the pair skated both in competition and in exhibitions. Until a year or so ago Troyer, who is now 74, put in his regular turns at skating. He also recalled old times in the boxing world with Frank "Kid" Parker, who can still perform a snappy exhibition.

Dube, who is still clear eyed and in the best of shape at the age of 68, gave up speed competition eight years ago and now devotes his time to exhibitions and skating for his own pleasure.

He described the ice at the Pullar building as some of the best he has ever skated on and lauded Manager Kenneth Kniskern for his fine job in keeping the arena in splendid shape.

Mr. Dube said he would like to perform in the Lions Club Carnival on March 29, but that his duties as general foreman at the Chicago, Northwestern ore docks in Escanaba would be keeping him busy at that time.
